

Responses to Respondent Questions

- 1. "In Section 2, "Proposer Description and Qualifications," we are allotted four pages for this section; however, the project description within it is limited to 400 words. Would SVCE consider allowing us to use the full four pages for this content rather than adhering to the 400-word limit?"

Applying firms should adhere to the page limits and guidelines outlined within the request for proposals.

- 2. Can a group of firms, covering multiple industries and with different technical expertise, propose together? In this case, there would be more than one professional that would be available to participate in the working group depending on the topic. If so, will resumes count towards the page limit if there is more than one?

We recommend that firms submit proposals individually and adhere to the proposal guidelines outlined in the request for proposals.

- 3. For the narrative, it says "Provide a short-written description (400 words maximum) of 3 projects", does this mean 3, 400-word maximum descriptions?

This means a total of 400 words across all project descriptions.

- 4. Is SVCE looking for expertise on both single-family and multifamily residential electrification?

Yes, we welcome proposals from experts in both single-family and multi-family electrification.
